OLIVER FOR GOVERNOR.

Among the list of probable timber for the next Governor of Missouri, Arthur L. Oliver strikes us as being a man that could most excellently fill that position. There are a number of other men, and good ones, that could and would make most efficient officers. A number of these men are in the list as probable contestants for the governorship, but one qualification that Mr. Oliver possesses and the others have not, is that he is a Southeast Missourian. He has not announced that he desires the governorship of Missouri, and he may not do so, but in the event that he does, as many of his friends are urging him to do, he would be a splendid man to get behind and place in that most honored position. Arthur Oliver is a Caruthersville boy—a Southeast Missourian—and with that is one of the ablest lawyers and statesmen in Missouri. He served as a member of the House in 1904 to 1906, and two years later was elected to the State Senate, being the youngest senator in the 45th General Assembly. His record in the Senate was sufficient to gain for him the enviable position of United States District Attorney, with offices in St. Louis. He is already recognized as a power in statesmanship, and should he decide to throw his hat in the ring, all Southeast Missouri should rally to his support.—Bloomfield Vindicator.

TELL THE SALESMAN.

With the approach of the fall season, the big jobbers and manufacturers will begin to send out their salesmen. Many of these salesmen are going to call on you, Mr. Retailer. Here are a few suggestions by which you might open the conversation with them:

Ask them what they will do to help you sell the goods they want you to buy.

Ask them if their firm is going to advertise their goods in the newspapers of your city. If they reply no, ask them why not?

Tell them that it is necessary for them to create the demand in your city, among your customers, for their line of goods, otherwise you cannot push their line in preference to those manufacturers or jobbers who do create this demand.

Tell them the best way to create the demand is to advertise in the local newspaper; that your customers read the newspaper published here; that you yourself advertise in it; and that you are not willing to spend your money to make their particular brands popular in this town and later have them take the line away from you and give it to your competitor.

Tell them that you favor goods which are advertised in your local newspaper because you find it more profitable to do so.

This is a mighty good hand to hold. It should be a stand-pat one.

JUDGE FARIS SPEAKS OUT.

At the last session of the Legislature Missouri came very near to getting a simplified code of legal procedure. A little more education, a little more effort would have carried the desired measure at that time. But the time was not quite ripe, and so the State must look forward to the next session, when another trial will be made.

From no source, we take it, can further education come more effectively than from the judges of the supreme court. Underneath all the impatience and doubt, the people, at bottom, look up to their courts and respect them. The one thing which threatens that fundamental respect is the fact that the people—and the newspapers also—sometimes blame the courts for laws and forms of procedure which the courts did not make and cannot change.

It may have been some such thought as this which put so much vigor and determination into what Presiding Judge Faris had to say on procedural reform to the Bar Association. At any rate, it is a pleasure to hear the Judge speak out and say that the ax must be laid to the root, if the evils of our antiquated practice are to be abolished. His words will be heard throughout the state and they will carry conviction.—St. Louis Republic.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

The seventh year of this paper is fast drawing to a close, and we are justly proud of our business and of our many good subscribers. We do not want to lose a single subscriber, but on the contrary, want to add 200 more to our list the coming year. Many subscriptions are beginning to expire, and it is hoped that they will promptly renew. We are devoting our best efforts to make the Hayti Herald the foremost newspaper in Pemiscot county, and with your help we can do it.

W. E. Talley Gets Pardon.

W. E. Talley, a former resident of this city and connected with banks here in the past, but who has been associated with banks in Arkansas for some years, was recently convicted on a perjury charge growing out of the failure of the Bank of Rogers and given a sentence of two years.

Upon representations by a committee representing the depositors of the defunct bank that Talley's imprisonment would prevent carrying out a plan for the paying of the depositors in full, Gov. Hays gave him a pardon September 25.

All of the officials of the bank were indicted, but Mr. Talley was the only one to be placed on trial.—Caruthersville Argus.

BANK OF HAYTI

This bank is one of the pioneer banks of Pemiscot County. Only one bank in the county is older. For twelve years it has solicited and safely guarded the savings of the people of this community, and by its conservatism and prudent management has held its position as one of the leading financial institutions of this section.

Financial Storms Have Tested its Safety. Prosperous Years Have Tried its Conservatism. Through Every Condition it Has Stood Firm, No Less Carefully Managed in Good Times Than in Panics.
